

YANKS FORGING AHEAD IN NORMANDY

TOUGH BATTLE IMMINENT ON
ITALIAN FRONTENEMY DETERMINED TO HALT DRIVE
ON LEGHORN

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Rome, July 5 (AP)—American troops have fought doggedly forward to within less than 13 air-line miles of the big Italian west coast port of Livorno (Leghorn) and are engaged in the preliminaries of what may prove their hardest battle since the Anzio beachhead. Allied headquarters announced today.

Frontline reports showed the Germans were dug in on high ground running about 35 miles inland from Castiglione on the coast through Rosignano and Volterra to Casole d'Elsa, which is about 15 miles west of newly-captured Siena.

"It is clear that the enemy intends to hang doggedly to Rosignano and Volterra in his endeavor to delay our advance on Livorno," said an official Allied communication.

Progress Slowed Down
Violent fighting was in progress along almost the entire length of this new enemy defense line, particularly around Rosignano, which sits astride the coastal highway to Livorno. Heavy Nazi guns emplaced on heights dominating Rosignano were throwing a deadly fire into advancing Yank armor and infantry, which was reported to have reached the outskirts of the fortress town.

Casole d'Elsa, upon which American troops made six attacks Monday, was the scene of bitter house-to-house fighting as it changed hands several times. Doughboys at last report had penetrated the town "in some strength" and were bracing to meet expected German counterattacks.

Headquarters warned that only slow progress could be expected from here on in the push to Livorno, adding that the port itself is defended by thick concrete pillboxes, extensive mine fields and barbed wire. Reconnaissance reports said the city would be "defended with stubbornness."

Unsettled weather hampered Allied air activity over the battle zone, but up to 500 American heavy bombers attacked rail and air targets at Bravos and Pitesti in Romania. The bomber gunners and escorting fighters knocked down 14 German interceptors. Five Allied craft were lost in all operations.

Canadians Parodize
Pistol Packin' Song
To Fit The Jerries

New York, July 5 (AP)—CBS Correspondent Charles Shaw reported today from London that Canadians in the Caen sector of France have written a parody on "Pistol Packin' Mama" which goes like this:

"Having lots of fun,
"Till one night we got him right,
"Now he's on the run,
"We licked you on the beaches,
"Chased you through the towns,
"You're not safe if we reach you,
"So lay that Luger down,"
"Lay that Luger down, kid,
"You haven't got a chance,
"Luger-lugin' Ludwig,
"You're all washed up in France."

AIR ACE DOWNS
HIS 28TH PLANEPennsylvania Boy Will

Grand Rapids Girl

A U. S. Eighth Air Force Fighter Base in Britain, July 5 (AP)—Lt. Col. Francis Gabreski, 25-year-old Thunderbolt pilot who wanted to shoot down a 28th German plane before going home to get married, got his wish today when he knocked down a Messerschmitt 262 near Evreux, France, and became the top-scoring ace in the entire U. S. air force.

Gabreski got his 27th last week, tying Maj. Robert S. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., and Maj. Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis. He had been pressing ever since for the 28th, but returned disconsolately yesterday, exclaiming:

"We didn't see a thing—not a damned thing. I'm a sea-and-aad sack."

Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa., went out against today and promptly got his German. Now he will take his 30-day leave, during which he said he intended to marry Kay Cochran of Grand Rapids, Mich., a girl he met in Hawaii three years ago.

Congressmen Dealt
In On Republican
Campaign By Dewey

Albany, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey dealt members of congress and candidates in on the Republican presidential campaign today with an invitation to the 11-member Massachusetts delegation and Governor Leverett Saltonstall to confer with him here Monday.

Announcing at a news conference that he planned further similar meetings to assess the issues of the campaign, Dewey said he had asked Rep. Joseph Martin, house minority leader, to bring with him Saltonstall, and Senator Sinclair Weeks, along with as many of the members of the Massachusetts group as could come.

Although reporters attempted to attract particular attention to Weeks' visit, since the latter is a long-time friend and supporter of Wendell L. Willkie, Dewey denied there was any significance.

Washington Plans
Royal Welcome For General DeGaulle

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Elimination of the question of recognizing the French National Committee as a government cleared the air today for General Charles de Gaulle's momentous meeting with President Roosevelt tomorrow.

A royal welcome has been planned. American diplomats have signed it deliberately to show that despite this government's policy on that issue, the leader of the French group is due the highest respect here.

Newsmen considered the recognition question as written off, in the light of a press conference statement today by Secretary Hull.

The secretary of state said it was his understanding that De Gaulle's conversations with American officials will be general, specializing on no one particular thing.

Even Nudists Get
Checkup By OPA

San Francisco, July 5 (AP)—Two office of price administration (OPA) investigators invaded an Idyll nudist retreat in the Valley of the Moon today to find out how some 200 members got there with "A" gasoline rations.

Enforcement Attorney Tom Ryan said OPA also was interested in learning why the owners of Sun-O-Ma, a 240-acre wooded camp 40 miles north of here, had not registered the place and its tenants in accordance with the area rental regulations.

BABIES RESCUED

Safety As Bomb Hits
London Hospital

London, July 5 (AP)—Dozens of babies were carried to safety tonight by nurses — some holding three or four infants in their arms at a time — when a flying bomb struck a hospital in southern England as the Germans' blind attacks were stepped up on the eve of Prime Minister Churchill's appearance in commons to make a promised statement on the robots.

All the babies were saved and the casualties were small with only one fatality — a nurse. The blast of the bomb damaged both the hospital and an adjoining nurses home.

Famous pilots, who participated in the battle of Britain, now are taking a leading part in the fight against the flying bombs, it was disclosed tonight. They are led by Air Marshal Sir Roderic Hill, commanding the entire defense scheme against the robots, who took to the air himself today for the second time and joined a fighter patrol.

Fighter pilots reported they were very successful during the day in destroying the buzz-bombs over wide areas.

IN NORMANDY, (by wireless) —This ack-ack crew of mine is having its first taste of war. And after three weeks or so of it they feel that they are the best gun crew in the best battery of the best ack-ack battalion on the beachhead.

It would be close to impossible for a German bomber to pick out their position at night, yet this crew feels that the Germans have singled them out because they're so good. As far as I can learn, practically all the other gun crews feel the same way. That's what is known in military terms as good morale.

My crew consists of 13 men. Some of them operate the dials on the gun, others load and fire it. Others lug the big shells from a storage pit a few feet away.

The big 90-millimeter guns usually operate in batteries, and a

100 Men Fight Flames
At Ohio Colliery

Bellaire, O., July 5 (AP)—An unknown number of miners—variously estimated from 40 to 75—was imprisoned today by a fire in the Powhatan mine, and nine hours later an official of the United Mine Workers expressed doubt that any would be rescued alive.

"I do not think they will find one of them alive," said Adolph Pacifico, vice president of District 6 of the U. M. W. "There is no way to get to them from the back of the shaft without forcing carbon monoxide gas into the chambers where they are."

The men were trapped four miles from the main entrance of the shaft, Ohio's largest soft coal pit, when falling slate struck a trolley wire at 1 p. m., EWT. Fires were reported to have sprung up at three entries.

The number of men in the blocked sections was placed at 75 by Sheriff W. S. McLaughlin of Belmont county and Henry Ady of Clarington, a member of the rescue crew.

However, Matthew Stecker, personnel manager for the Powhatan mining company which operates the shaft 15 miles south of here, said he believed "between 40 and 50" were entombed.

Leading Allied Ace
Bags His 35th Nazi

London, July 5 (AP)—Wing Commander J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, a Canadian Spitfire pilot and leading Allied ace in the European war zone, shot down two more German planes today to run his score to 35—all destroyed in aerial combat.

Johnson's Spitfire squadron shot down seven Nazi planes in battles over the Normandy battlefield during the day.

The two fields are three miles apart. There was only minor opposition. Stronger resistance was expected in the push southward to Nambur drome on Noemfoor's southwestern end.

Headquarters announced also that American patrols on the Dutch New Guinea mainland in the Maffin Bay area were within a mile of Japanese-owned Sawar airfield.

The Maffin Bay airstrip near Sawar was captured June 30. Allied troops have been fighting in the bay sector, 250 miles east of Noemfoor, for six weeks.

Southwest Pacific bombers also attacked two enemy bases in the Caroline Islands on Independence Day. They hit Yap Island with 22 tons of explosives and also bombed Woleai east of Yap.

By RUSSELL C. LANDSTROM
London, Thursday, July 6 (AP)—While overwhelming Soviet forces lunged toward the Baltics and East Prussia almost at will, slaughtering German defenders and capturing towns in incredible numbers, the Moscow radio broadcast early today a report from Stockholm that Adolf Hitler had just reached a decision to throw all his Nazi reserves into the gigantic struggle on the eastern front.

The radio report said "an extraordinary meeting has just been held at Hitler's headquarters. Col. Gen. Kurt Zeitzler, chief of the German general staff, and Col. Gen. Ernst von Busch, commander in chief of the eastern front, were present.

German Desperate
"Zeitzler" said the German army was faced with superiority it could not equal and Hitler was said to have ordered that all reserves were to be flung into the battle at once to stop the Soviet advance."

The westward drive of the Red army, already spilling onto the borders of Latvia and Lithuania, captured the important railway junction of Molodeczno in old Poland today, Premier Stalin announced tonight.

Assault troops of Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army reached the outskirts of the fortified town Monday and in clearing it of the Nazi defenders today wiped out the last big obstacle before Wilno (Vilna) on the southeast.

Molodeczno is 40 miles north-west of the White Russian capital of Minsk and 68 from Wilno at the point where the main railway line between these two large cities is intersected by a secondary line running southward into Poland from Polotsk.

More To Come
In his order of the day, calling for a salute of 12 salvos from 124 of Moscow's big guns, Stalin pointed out that Molodeczno guarded the way not only to Wilno but to Riga, the capital of Latvia on the Baltic sea.

The two fields are three miles apart. There was only minor opposition. Stronger resistance was expected in the push southward to Nambur drome on Noemfoor's southwestern end.

Headquarters announced also that American patrols on the Dutch New Guinea mainland in the Maffin Bay area were within a mile of Japanese-owned Sawar airfield.

Carrier Task Force
Aids Quick Cleanup
Of Japs On Saipan

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, July 5 (AP)—U. S. Marines and infantry pressed for a quick cleanup today on strategic Saipan island within bombing range of Japan, powerfully aided by American carrier task force smashes at enemy bases on islands to the north and south.

The Nipponese, squeezed into a corner at the north end of this Marianas island, are making a final gesture for their emperor.

The showdown clash is being fought in an area the Japanese expected they must one day defend. It is filled with pillboxes, blockhouses and shelters. Every cave is manned by enemy riflemen and machine gunners. More than 2,000 miles southward other American fighting men pushed their rapid conquest of Noemfoor island, stepping stone on the invasion route to Mindanao, Japanese stronghold at the southern end of the Philippines.

Reinforced by paratroopers, these forces intensified their drive for the two remaining air-dromes on the island. One was captured at the outset of the invasion, launched last Sunday.

In a lightning two-day strike into Japan's Volcano and Bonin islands, an American carrier task force sank or beached three destroyers, sank two other vessels, damaged several others and destroyed 64 to 80 planes in combat. Nine American carrier planes were lost. Not one U. S. surface vessel was damaged.

Planes of the speedy task force struck first at Iwo Island in the Volcano (Kazan) group. Fifty-five enemy planes, and probably 24 more, were destroyed at Iwo, which is 755 miles southeast of Tokyo.

On Independence Day, the task force knifed northward into the Bonins to give the Japs a taste of an American Fourth of July celebration and also smacked ed Iwo again.

The general Pacific campaign against Japanese outer defenses. Forrestal said, has gone "at a somewhat faster pace than had been hoped for."

American submarines torpedoed 17 of the Nipponese craft including a light cruiser, a destroyer and 15-cargo and transport vessels.

From the British admiralty in London came news of the sinking of nine more Japanese supply ships by British submarines.

Acceleration of the attacks on the Japanese shipping lanes may be anticipated, said Forrestal, declaring that submarine crews deserve the "lion's share of the credit for knocking the props from under Japan's conquest."

Air forces, he told a news conference, also are battering the Japanese merchant fleet with increasing success and the campaign "will be accelerated by our advance into the Marianas."

Bond Sales Near
15 Billion Total

Washington, July 5 (AP)—War Bond sales in the $16,000,000,000 Fifth war loan drive totaled $14,984,000,000 through Monday, the treasury reported today.

This represented an increase of only $229,000,000 from the previously reported total.

With the campaign scheduled to end Saturday, sales have now reached 94 per cent of the goal, including sales of $11,205,000,000 to corporations and other non-banking investors and sales of $3,778,000,000 to individuals.

Corporations and other non-banking investors have subscribed 112 per cent of their quota, but individuals only 63 per cent of their quota. The drive opened June 12.

DOOMED; CANADIAN TROOPS ADVANCE

By JAMES M. LONG
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Thursday, July 5 (AP)—Bayonet-wielding American troops crashed into the rubble-strewn streets of burning La Haye Du Puits late yesterday capturing the railway station on the northern rim of that shattered German west Normandy defense anchor and colling around both sides of the city in an apparent by-passing plunge.

Hundreds of big Allied guns dominated the situation, pounding German resistance nests inside the shell-ruined city and beyond it on the road leading down toward Brittany. But front reports told of fierce German resistance both at La Haye and in Mont Castr forest from two to four miles southeast of the stronghold.

Tank Attack Broken Up
On the opposite end of the front German tank-supported counter-attacks forced Canadian troops off Carpiquet airport, but the Canadians held firmly amid the wreckage of Carpiquet village itself, three miles west of Caen, and beat off several counter-thrusts there.

Once a dozen German tanks infiltrated into the village, but were cleared out after running into intense fire from anti-tank guns and Vickers machineguns. One Nazi assault before dawn was made with tanks, followed by German infantrymen "shouting their heads off," a field dispatch said. Canadians dug into improvised trenches and, utilizing captured positions, some of which are 20 to 30 feet underground, broke up that storming wave.

British troops on the Canadian flank also were locked in a swaying vicious fight on heights between Baron and Esquay, five miles south of Carpiquet.

Eisenhower Watches
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower watched the furious battle for La Haye on the Fourth of July and returned to England yesterday after conferring with Allied field commanders. In his fighter plane flight over La Haye he was piloted by Brig. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, U. S. Ninth Air Force fighter commander.

The fall of La Haye, regarded as imminent, is expected to force the Germans into a five-mile retreat toward Lessay. A front dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead said American troops broke into the city on the northern side while other units were engaged in the east and west, thereby avoiding too costly a frontal attack.

An Allied communique issued at 11:30 p. m., and trailing by some hours the actual events in the field, told of the capture of St. Nicholas De Pierre, three miles northwest of La Haye, and Neufmesnil, one and a half miles north of the German hinge town.

A total of 58 cities, towns and villages have been liberated in France at the end of the first month of the invasion, headquarters announced. The big prize of course was Cherbourg, 35 miles north of embattled La Haye, and U. S. engineers were working

BY GLADWIN HILL
London, Thursday, July 6 (P)—In the most impressive offensive since D-Day, Allied air forces hurled at least five strong daylight bomber forces and thousands of fighters at the Germans from the channel to the Mediterranean yesterday as American heavy bombers returned to their British bases after shuttle-bombing the Nazis from England to Russia to Italy.

The 7,000-mile circuit clamped tight an aerial ring of steel around Germany exposing the whole of Hitler's Europe to the bombs of the Allies.

The shuttle planes, which on June 21 flew from Britain to Russia and then five days later went from Russia to Italy, returned today via southern France, where they bombed the big railway yards at Beihers, near Montpellier.

Simultaneously another fleet of heavies from Italy—Liberators of the 15th U. S. Air Force—also went to southern France and gave a fifth pounding to the big naval base at Toulon. That force returned to its bases in Italy. First reports indicated it met no fighter opposition over Toulon.

the Baltic, spearheaded by Gen. Ivan Bagration's First Baltic army, earlier had pressed within 10 miles of the Latvian frontier and within 14 miles of Lithuania across the narrow neck of Wilno province.

Waves of Russian tanks, infantry and artillery pressed the advance, which has carried within 100 to 120 miles from the border of East Prussia, and German broadcasts suggested that still other Soviet offensives were in prospect.

Wilno Next Goal
DNE, German news agency, said the Nazis had evacuated the important town of Kowel in Old Poland at a point 80 miles southeast of Brest Litovsk and a similar distance southeast of Pinsk. Abandonment of Kowel, which is on a main railroad 175 miles southeast of Warsaw, was "in order to shorten the front," the German high command said.

South of Minsk, which the Russians took on Monday, the German communiqué said, "German formations fought their way further backwards."

London military writers predicted that unless the German defense should stiffen unexpectedly, Wilno probably would be in Russian hands by the end of the week and the east Prussian border should be reached next week.

Finnish and German accounts meanwhile said the Russians also had landed on five islands in the Gulf of Finland and that the Finns had regained two of them.

Pulaski Program Is Well Attended

Bark River, Mich.—The celebration of the first anniversary of the dedication of the honor roll to servicemen and women of Bark River and Harris townships by the Bark River Pulaski club was well attended by the people of surrounding communities.

Chester Lukaskiewicz, associate editor of the Polish-American newspaper, America Echo, of Toledo, O., spoke in the Polish language on "The Rebirth of Poland". He declared that the exemplary conduct displayed by the Poles throughout the world should be an incentive to their spirit of freedom after hostilities are over.

Trooper Ralph Sheehan of Marquette also spoke on the subject, "What Are We Fighting For?" He praised the record of the Poles in the two World wars.

More than 125 mothers and wives were presented at the evening program.

FIX CEILINGS ON USED AUTOS

Maximum Prices Go Into Effect Monday,
July 10

Effective Monday, July 10 price ceilings will go into effect on used automobiles and representatives of the Office of Price Administration will conduct a close check to see that the ceilings are enforced.

Cars will be sold on "as is" or warranty basis, with all individuals and non-dealers required to sell at the "as is" price. Warranty prices will represent a maximum of 25% above the "as is" price or $100, whichever is greater, and such sales will include a written warranty of 30 days or 1,000 miles.

Both buyers and sellers will be required to fill out transfer certificates which will be turned in to the local war price and rationing board. The local price panels will investigate all such certificates to be certain that price ceilings have not been violated. The filing of this certificate will be required before the buyer will be permitted to receive gasoline rations for the vehicle.

In general the ceiling prices will represent a substantial roll-back of current market prices for used automobiles. Typical ceilings include the following:

Ford Deluxe Fordor sedan
	As Is	Warranty
1942 model	990	$1,238
1941 model	845	1,056
1940 model	700	875
1939 model	555	694

Chevrolet Master Deluxe
	As Is	Warranty
1942 model	945	$1,181
1941 model	825	1,031
1940 model	650	813
1939 model	530	663

The premium for warranted cars, covering the cost of putting them into condition and fulfilling the warranty, is expected to encourage dealers to maintain available used cars in good condition, thus prolonging their period of use.

Used car ceilings will be reduced at the rate of four percent of the "as is" price every six months. This provision is designed to conform with standard trade practices and also to bring into the market used cars now held for speculative purposes.

Specific dollars and cents ceiling prices have been placed on all models from 1937 and later. Cars older than 1937 cannot be sold at prices higher than those established for the nearest comparable 1937 model.

Typical ceiling prices listed here are for Area A, which includes Michigan and all states east of the Mississippi river. Higher prices are permitted for regions west of the Mississippi with the highest prices allowed for the states of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Arizona. Specific increases are permitted for certain accessories, such as heater, radio, etc.

Escanaban Flew Paratroopers to Normandy Coast

FIRST LT. BREAUT

A Ninth Air Force Troop Carrier Base, European Theater of Operations—One of the many veterans of the Sicilian and Italian campaigns, First Lt. George F. Breault, of 428 South 14th street, Escanaba, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Breault, was among the ones chosen to pilot his plane on the first wave of Ninth Troop Carrier C-47s when they dropped paratroopers on the Cherbourg peninsula during the first night of the assault on the famed "west wall" of Europe.

Lt. Breault was awarded the Air Medal and Oak Leaf Cluster for his meritorious and unstinting effort as a pilot and officer, while in the Mediterranean theater.

"Troopers Jumped"

Flying in "The Schooner," the name of his aircraft, Lt. Breault took off with his flight and with innumerable other troop carrier aircraft, both behind and in front of him, watched as the course plotted beforehand unfolded in sequence, and at the designated time, saw that he had his aircraft over the D Z (drop zone). Jump light was given and the "troopers" eagerly "hit the silk." As soon as Lt. Breault was certain the last man had jumped, he put "The Schooner" in a nearly vertical dive and headed for the "deck."

"This is when all hell seemed to break loose from below," said Lt. Breault, "as the enemy had finally spotted us and seemed very determined that we should not return to our base." Despite the barrage of flak and machine gun fire thrown up, Lt. Breault held his plane in its dive until it was but feet from the ground and then leveled out with full throttle, he terrain "hedge-hopped" for the channel and safety. Even though Lt. Breault used all evasive maneuvers he had ever been taught, and some that are not in the "books," the "Jerry fire" was still heavy and intense enough that machine gun bullet holes were found both in the engine nacelle and the tail surface. With the successful crossing of the channel and return to the home base, another mission had been added to the credit to the pilot and men of Troop Carrier, who go into combat in unarmed and unarmed aircraft. In doing this, once again it was Troop Carrier who gave vital assistance in spearheading the invasion of France.

The IX Troop Carrier Command, to which his unit has been assigned, headed by Brig. Gen. Paul L. Williams, is part of the Ninth Air Force, United States component of the Allied Expeditionary Air Force. Troop Carrier planes and gliders struck the opening blows of the Allied European offensive.

Room for Worry

AS MICHIGAN'S primary election campaign enters its final week, Republican forces in the state, who are backing Gov. Harry Kelly's slate of candidates for nomination, are becoming deeply concerned over the growing possibility that Lieut. Gov. Eugene Keyes may win the party nomination for that office over Auditor General Vernon Brown at the election of next Tuesday. The state's present auditor general is Gov. Kelly's choice for second place on the state ticket and the nomination of Keyes would prove a bitter pill for the governor and party leaders to follow.

A fair minded comparison of the two candidates and their qualifications for the office of lieutenant governor, unquestionably would place Vernon Brown far out in front and on the basis of merit he should win by a wide margin. The arrest of Dr. Keyes last week on a charge of slapping a small boy, working in his office, has not helped the case of the present lieutenant governor, but he has, up to this time, been waging a smart campaign. He has plastered the lower peninsula section of the state, particularly, with bill-boards appealing for votes to defeat the "purge" directed against him by the so-called Kelly machine. Purges are no longer popular even with New Dealers in any state and Dr. Keyes has taken advantage of this feeling to win support for his nomination in Michigan.

Unquestionably Gov. Kelly does not like Dr. Keyes, either personally or officially, and he has a lot of company in Michigan in that feeling and the state's chief executive, who will be renominated and re-elected, without any question of doubt, should be permitted to select his own cabinet of state officers, but a lot of unthinking voters may "fall" for the type of campaign that is being waged by Dr. Keyes.

The best insurance against Gov. Kelly being placed in a most embarrassing position, after next Tuesday, is for his friends to see that every pro-administration vote in the state, is cast at the election of next week.

Had the Know-How

BACK IN 1940 when the federal census was taken, Sturgeon Bay had a population of 5,400. It was a somewhat quiet town, except for a flush of excitement during the summer when the tourists came to enjoy the scenery and other recreational attractions of the Door peninsula and others came to pick cherries in the large orchards in the area.

Sturgeon Bay had a shipbuilding industry, but it had been virtually idle since World War I. The shipyards were there, along with trained workmen and experienced management, when the outbreak of World War II created an unprecedented demand for more cargo and fighting ships.

In January, 1941, for instance, the Leatham D. Smith Shipbuilding company had about forty employees on the job. When the orders came in for subschasers, frigates and cargo ships, the shipyard facilities and crews were rapidly expanded. In January, 1944, about 5,200 workers, including 700 women, were employed in the Smith shipyards, but now as result of heavy drafts by the Selective Service the payroll is down to about 5,000.

Other shipyards in Sturgeon Bay were revived to meet the Allies' need for ships in this war. The Sturgeon Bay Dock and Shipbuilding company employs over 2,000; the Sturgeon Bay Boat Works, more than 200; and the Peterson Boat Works, about 100.

Sturgeon Bay has mushroomed from a town of 5,400 to a bustling community of 12,000 to 13,000 inhabitants. Homes, rooming houses, hotels and trailer camps were quickly jammed when the boom got under way, and to relieve the housing shortage the government found it necessary to build homes and dormitories to accommodate 500 families and 600 single workers.

Sturgeon Bay is profiting because it fortunately has the "know-how" to organize its shipbuilding facilities on an enormous scale. Its experience serves to impress upon to Escanaba and other industrially-minded communities the importance of having trained labor available when needed.

All-Out War Pledged

ARGUMENTS long ago presented by the New Deal spokesmen to the effect that the reelection of President Roosevelt is necessary for the successful prosecution of the war effort are being answered early by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The Republican presidential nominee has pledged that, if elected, he will intensify the war on the Axis. He plans to refrain from unfair attacks upon the administration's war policies, and expresses confidence that a cleanly-fought campaign should unite rather than divide the American people.

Governor Dewey has pointed out clearly that the military leaders are now directing the operations on the battle fronts and that no politics should be allowed to interfere with their efforts. President Roosevelt broke long-established tradition by running for a third term, and there is every reason to expect, even in wartime, the American people will do some precedent-breaking on their own by voting to change the civil government leadership in time of war.

The holding of a presidential election in the midst of the greatest World war in history is the best proof of the inherent strength of our democratic form of government. Imagine Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo holding a free election after a campaign, in which op,osing parties were permitted to freely voice their opinions.

Following Good Example

THE Republican party set its national convention on a high plane by avoiding the maudlin, merry-making antics that have characterized political rallies of this type in the past and conducted itself more in keeping with the serious nature of the times.

The orderly, business-like convention was highly praised by the press and radio, and so taking their cue from their Republican rivals, the Democrats are planning to hold a short session in Chicago the week of July 19.

Democratic conventions have been typical three-ring circuses in the past, but the party leaders have decided it would be wise to put on a better show of dignity. It is to be hoped that political campaign that follows can be maintained on a decent level throughout. With the nation at war and many men dying on the battlefields of Europe and the South Pacific, it is absolutely unnecessary that the parties should resort to the throwing of political mud. It would help no one but our enemies.

Nazis Helped Themselves

THE report of the AMG public health chief in Rome brings us yet another picture of the enormity of Nazi greed, rapacity and heartlessness. One of every five persons in the Italian capital is suffering from tuberculosis, a direct result of Italy's "friendly alliance" with Hitler.

First came the Italian contribution to Hitler's promised victory. Not only did the Italians pay with men and goods and raw material, but also with cold and hunger. Then the Nazis arrived in person, living as they always live, on the country's best, while the natives endured new acute privation.

The toll is only now becoming apparent to us. Deficiency diseases of adults and children are piled upon the alarming spread of tuberculosis. Thus did Hitler treat his friends and allies. What the liberating Allied armies will find in the countries that opposed Hitler is appalling to contemplate.

ANOTHER DREAM FADES

(Grand Rapids Press)

These seem to be the bitter days of disillusionment for a lot of us. First of all, the National Association of Home Builders spiked idle talk of "dream houses" after the war by saying the postwar houses would be pretty much the same as pre-war houses. And now along comes Grover Loening, chairman of the helicopter committee of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, with the suggestion that we'd better just forget those dreams of jumping into our own helicopter immediately after the war for a quick trip to that remote stream where the trout are waiting hungrily.

Rapid improvement of the helicopter and disclosure of the fact that the first mass production of this type of aircraft is under way have whetted a lot of American imaginations but, says Loening, a halt must be called to this sort of wishful thinking.

The truth is that the helicopter, which undoubtedly has a great future, actually is limited to usage by skillful pilots because they require co-ordination of five controls, knowledge of navigation, maintenance, judgment of distances and alertness, making them less suitable for general use than ordinary airplanes. Aside from that, their roar is terrific and their blade-wash would blow all the house-wash off the line.

Loening doesn't mean to imply that the helicopter never will be a vehicle for common use, but he does emphasize that before that time comes engineers must be given an opportunity to work out the difficulties and sufficiently simplify operation of the planes. That, he estimates, will take from five to ten years.

NICKEL COFFEE

(Detroit Free Press)

The OPA has won the cheers of a vast army of coffee-drinkers with its order for a nickel-a-cup ceiling, including sugar and cream.

The only wonder is that OPA delayed so long. Coffee has been off the ration list for months. If scarcity was the excuse for demanding seven, eight, nine, ten cents or even more for a cup of coffee, the excuse has been shot away. OPA says the only exceptions are establishments that charged more than a nickel during the seven days between Oct. 4 and Oct. 10, 1942.

Sure, it's a small matter. But just as coffee is consumed for the energizing "lift" it provides, the return to its immemorial price level will provide added lift.

The blackout in Jerusalem has been lifted for the first time since 1940. A prelude to the lights going on again all over the world.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

The glaring light that beats upon a presidential candidate is going to reveal a good many traits of Governor Dewey known now only to the few who are his intimates. Some of these things are going to excite unbounded admiration; others will be used by the New Deal to injure him. It will be well to recognize these things now.

Dewey is first of all a stickler for organization. His private affairs, his office, down to the last ink-spot, his clerical staff, his speeches, his letters, his telephone arrangements and his political machinery are arranged with meticulous care.

Precision is everywhere in the Dewey picture. He has carried this rule of exactness into every aspect of the vast government of New York State. He found, to cite an example, that the State police in the many years of Smith, Roosevelt and Lehman had been operating as a group of uncoordinated districts. The head of each district had been operating in a routine largely determined by himself. All that has been changed. Wherever a State policeman operates, whether in the Adirondack Mountains or among the Finger Lakes, he is now conscious of Albany supervision. That is good for him and good for the State.

—NO BLIND OBEDIENCE—

Political managers in Dewey campaigns are not free agents. The candidate knows and, in general, directs what they are to do. In 1942, he was an intimate part of the strictly political organization and he participated in every decision.

This insistence by Dewey on having a personal hand in details is not resented by his subordinates. They know that he expects no blind obedience. They can talk back to him forcibly, so long as they stick to the subject at issue. And if their argument is good, he is willing to change his mind. The good relations that prevail between him and his subordinates are shown by the fact that for years there has been little change in personnel among the people who have worked with him. It is not strict accountability that causes breaks in the relations between a man and his co-workers. It is indecision and misunderstandings.

—ROOSEVELT TURNOVER—

Mr. Roosevelt is superficially a kindly, easy man to work with. But in a dozen years the turn-over among the people around him has been enormous. That, in large part, is because he seems to agree when he does not really agree, and because he actually agrees with too many conflicting opinions.

Dewey's insistence on knowing the facts is going to be misunderstood at first. But no spirit of contention lurks behind this trait. Dewey has a genuine and eager curiosity. He wants to know everything relevant to the solution of a government problem and to shape his judgments around the hard core of facts. Hunches and brainstorms are not the charts by which he would guide the ship of state. Many people feel that our national affairs call for this Dewey passion for order.

A lot of us are playing the Victory Garden game of tend the tomatoes—and the correct score all tied up!

Your chief interest in life right now ought to be that which you'll get from War Bonds.

Take My Word For it . . . Frank Colby

WORDS TO WATCH

In dictionaries that use Noah Webster's phonetic symbols (the little marks placed above vowels to indicate their sounds), the long "u" sound (yoo) as in music, few, beauty, etc., is indicated by a "u" with a short, straight mark above it. This symbol is called a macron, meaning "long", and pronounced: MAY-kron.

The macron is also used to indicate the long sound of the other vowels "e" (ee), "i" (eye), "a" (ay) and "o" (oh).

Now what I am leading up to is this: I have received several letters recently in which readers make comments like this: "You say that no dictionary authorizes the pronunciation 'KEW-pon.' Yet my Funk & Wagnall's dictionary does list 'KEW-pon.' for the vowel in the first syllable is given as 'u' with a macron over it."

Now note this fact carefully. Funk & Wagnall's Dictionary does use the macron over the vowels, but not to indicate their long sounds as in Webster's.

For example, the Funk & Wagnall's long "a" (ay) is an "e" with a macron; long "e" (ee) is an "i" with a macron; long "i" (eye) is "ai," and long "u" is "iu." Funk & Wagnall's indicate the "oo" sound, as in food, mood, boot, by a "u" with a macron.

Hence, a person who is familiar with Webster's symbols will naturally mistake Funk & Wagnall's "u" with macron to mean the Webster long "u" (yoo) as in cupid, cupola, etc.

As I remarked before, this conflict between Funk & Wagnall's "oo" sound and Webster's "yoo" sound apparently is the cause of some broadcasters saying "after-nyoon" for afternoon, "tyoo" for too, "dynoo" for do, etc. And, in the case of coupon, Funk & Wagnall's symbol for "oo" is misinterpreted to mean "yoo", hence the erroneous pronunciation, "KEW-pon."

And now what do you say if we all find a nice, quiet padded cell, and cut out paper dolls

Speaking of Footholds---

Good Morning!

LOOKING IT OVER—In Escanaba for the annual Upper Peninsula conference of the Michigan Municipal League, Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, saw many changes since he and Mrs. Dillman left home 24 years ago.

There have been many changes in Escanaba since Dr. Dillman was here—and there have been many events in the life of Dr. Dillman since 1920.

Not that in those 24 years Dr. Dillman has n't visited in Escanaba, but he had little time to himself on this last trip to Escanaba, and he made the most of it. He looked the town over, compared it in his memory with days past, and with other cities in which he has resided since 1920. And he came to the conclusion that Escanaba isn't such a bad place after all.

"What impressed me most," he said, "are the neat lawns, the flowers in the yards, and the well-kept homes. Escanaba looks like the kind of town people like to live in."

In the years since Dr. Dillman lived here, and was assistant to H. I. Davies, former state highway engineer in the U. S. P., he was elected to and served the people of Michigan as state highway commissioner, and since August, 1935, has been president of Michigan's largest engineering school. Under his presidency, Houghton Tech educational service has been greatly expanded.

Incidentally, Dr. Dillman has one of those puzzling nicknames, puzzling to even those who knew him well in Escanaba. It is "Pete," which somehow seems without relation to Grover C.

"TOKIO ROSE"—Down in the South Pacific, and even along our Pacific coast, the boys in uniform are listening to short-wave broadcasts from Tokio—and they're propagandists at that. But don't get the idea the boys are falling for the line—far from it. They listen because they enjoy the latest American swing recordings, and the Japanese are tempted to cut buttons in the fabric of their morale.

Staff Sgt. Vern Hullin and Sgt. Vernon Kolb, both of the U. S. Marines, and both having served in the South Pacific, vouch for the popularity of one Nip broadcaster, a gal the boys call "Tokio Rose". The woman who speaks for the land of the rising sun is believed to be an American, for she speaks with a Yankee accent, knows all the American slang, she also has a stock of swing recordings the boys like—and she'll play them on request!

It all sounds slightly fantastic, but it's true. Sergeants Hullin and Kolb, home on furlough some time back, told all about it. They said the Marines in the South Pacific get a kick out of "Tokio Rose's" efforts to make them think they were losing the war.

When a strike (mission) went out from an American base, "Tokio Rose" would be on the air with a broadcast about the great losses inflicted on the Americans, and the number of our planes that had been lost. The listening Yanks would laugh out loud as the very planes the gal from Japan was describing as lost came safely back to their bases!

Lt. Ned Reynolds, also home in San Francisco, says the boys on the West Coast even listen for "Tokio Rose" she's that popular. And he adds, you can get your request for a swing tune from Japan answered if you'll just write to "Tokio Rose," and route it through neutral Switzerland.

NORMANDY HOME—T-5 Cpl. Francis Laviolette, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Laviolette of Escanaba,

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Members of the family of Mrs. James Stratton, pioneer Stonington resident, gathered for a reunion there on the Fourth of July.

A request by Bennett McCauley that he be reinstated as a member of the Escanaba police department was denied following a hearing in the case conducted by a committee of the Escanaba city council.

20 Years Ago—1924

Washington—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., 16, younger son of the president, is seriously ill with septic poisoning, which entered his system from a broken blister on his heel, suffered while playing tennis.

The Salvation Army is opening its campaign for funds in Escanaba with a statement of its accomplishments for the past year. Included is the conversion of a whole family from sinful ways to a life of Christianity.

New York—A statue of "Father Knickerbocker" above the Hotel Astor entrance had its arms sawed off—the arm that holds aloft a frothing stein of beer. In its place has been placed a new arm holding a welcome sign for the Democratic national convention.

25 Years Ago—1919

Escanaba observed the Fourth of July with a big parade, featuring by hundreds of servicemen, and a program at Ludington Park, at which George Tucker of Marquette spoke for more than an hour. Tucker eulogized the servicemen and condemned Bolshevism, which he said threatened "free American institutions." H. J. Rushton was master of ceremonies.

Twenty cases will be heard in the summer term of federal court at Sault Ste. Marie. Eleven Delta county men are included on the jury. They are John Conahan, D. Curran, Hugh Blake, W. P. Belanger, Ernie Edmatt, George Pankratz, J. M. Miller, Bonander Smith, Clement Tordenn, John Calder and F. C. Ackley.

is in Normandy with our invasion forces. The other day his folks received a letter from him, and in it he described one of those little incidents of the war that reveal more than many an official communiqué.

Cpl. Laviolette and another American were near a Normandy road. An old couple, refugees who had fled the invasion area, were coming back. They walked along the country road, and with them was a donkey pulling a cart piled with their family possessions. Since neither the Americans nor the French could understand the other, they simply waved and smiled at each other. But the smile the old couple smiled! The soldiers knew they were going home again.

"I just hope they found their home was untouched by the war," wrote Cpl. Laviolette fervently.

REFERENDUM—By approval of a resolution, the Delta county board in recent session authorized a referendum to permit voters of the county to settle a question which has been long-discussed: Do we, or do we not want a new court house to be constructed as a postwar project?

While the question on the ballot will concern only financing, there is more to the background.

The city of Escanaba and its representatives want to build a new city hall after the war. The county needs a new court house. By combining the two buildings into one, there would be constructed a civic center which would permit giving better service to the public, and would cost much less than the construction of two separate buildings.

Whether the referendum brings joy or sorrow, it will have answered the one important question: Do we, or do we not want to finance the construction of such a building? The November referendum will tell the story.

The Lyons Den

NEW YORK—On Wednesday afternoon Lt. Col. Charles MacArthur, the playwright, arrived from Europe and went to his home in Nyack. In his hand he carried a rose, which he presented to his wife, Helen Hayes. Col. MacArthur had plucked this flower from a rosebush in Normandy, three days earlier. Miss Hayes placed the flower in a glass of water until that evening. And Wednesday night, in New York, the star wore on her dress the rose her husband had brought from Normandy.

AT LEAST six organizations are claiming promises of speeches by General de Gaulle, whose arrival is expected next week. He probably will deliver only one speech—Pavlova's ballet, "The Swan," will be performed by Markova, for the first time in this country, at Robin Hood Dell and at Lewisohn Stadium . . . Henriot, the Vichy Minister of Propaganda, made many broadcasts attacking Andre Labarthe of OWL. On March 26 Henriot broadcast: "The time soon will come when either my head or Labarthe's will be cut off." This week Henriot was assassinated. The OWL's report of this assassination was broadcast to France by Labarthe.

THE LEWISOHN STADIUM concert series will swing into full stride Thursday, July 6, when Oscar Levant will appear there . . . Levant, incidentally, visited with Arturo Toscanini and the maestro's son-in-law, Vladimir Horowitz, while Toscanini and Horowitz were in the living room, discussing a piece of music and illustrating their points by playing phases of the piece on the piano. Levant was in another room with Horowitz's daughter, Sonya. "When the piano is played in the other room," Levant asked the child, "can you always tell whether it's your grandfather or your father playing?" "I can always tell the difference," replied the daughter of the world's greatest pianist. "When Grandpa plays the piano, he always sings."

THE NEXT Hemingway story to be acquired by the film studios is his "Short Happy Life of Francis Macomber." While Leland Olds' name is up before the Senate for confirmation of his reappointment, he's off the payroll of the Federal Power Commission . . . Dana Sage's "The Moon Was Red," which introduced a new detective and an Indian who speaks Basic English, is the first of a series of 21 stories, each set in a different Latin-American country.

MORE THAN 2,000,000 pocket-book copies of "See Here, Private Hargrove" have been sold to date. After the opening night, the Waldorf decided they were acceptable and is paying them . . . One of the first newspapers to be published in Normandy was "Triangle," whose 700 copies were written and mimeographed by Britain's Capt. Bernard Rigby. The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington — Stalin's interview with Professor Oscar Lange of the University of Chicago, Polish-American leader, lasted two hours and twenty minutes, during which the strong man of Russia sipped tea and smoked an endless chain of cigarettes.

Present at the interview were Foreign Commissar Molotov and Secretary Pavlov of the Foreign Office.

It is considered significant that Polish Premier Mikolajczyk, during his recent visit in this country, spent considerable time with Professor Lange, who had recently returned from his talk with Stalin. It is believed that the Lange-Mikolajczyk conferences in Chicago, together with those the Polish Premier had with President Roosevelt in Washington, have had much to do with the reported favorable trend of Polish-Russian relations recently.

However, Stalin did not talk only about Poland. At one point, he was asked about the danger of Anglo-Soviet-American harmony breaking up. His reply was that he was not worried.

"This alliance is not built merely on an agreement between three men," Stalin said. "It is the result of a deep and compelling fundamental community of historical interests. It is assured by the fact that we all need each other. As one of your American statesmen once said, 'If we do not all hang together, we will hang separately.' So I am confident that, despite minor disturbances and occasional irritations, our friendship will continue and will assure peace to the post-war world."

—SOCIALIST GERMANY UNLIKELY— Stalin was also asked about the chances of Germany becoming socialist after the war. He replied that he did not believe that likely.

Foreign Commissar Molotov, expressed disagreement, pointing out that 5,900,000 anti-Nazi votes were cast in the last free election before Hitler came into power.

But Stalin argued back: "The cadres (meaning cells) of the rank and file of the German labor movement have been completely destroyed by fascism. The come-back of the German labor movement is a matter of one or two generations. Meanwhile, we can take no chances with Germany."

When the subject of Hitler and the German atrocities came up, Stalin became emotional. He told how the Germans had burned villages, slaughtered children, destroyed everything they saw.

"How can you expect a people who have indulged in such sadistic brutal atrocities to be socialists or communists? They are murderous barbarians. Human beings never could do such ruthless, savage things."

During his conversations, Stalin frequently referred to Lenin, leader of the Bolshevik revolution. "I am only following in the path laid down for us by Lenin," he once remarked.

—NO AMG FOR POLAND—

Referring to Polish problems, the main subject in which both Professor Lange and Father Orlemanski were interested, Stalin stated categorically that there would be no AMG for Poland in the wake of Red Army advances.

(NOTE—AMG, or Allied Military Government, is the service largely trained at the University of Virginia, under the U. S. Army, to take over occupied areas after the advance of Allied armies.)

Stalin expressed deep distrust of the Polish officers trained by AMG in the United States, England and Cairo to re-establish Polish rule in re-occupied Polish territory. He described these men as bitterly anti-Soviet and almost pro-German.

"There will be no AMGOT rule in Poland," Stalin said, calling AMG by the name which was originally used but which was changed when the Allies discovered that "amgot" was the Turkish word for horse manure and carried an unfortunate connotation.

"The Poles must form their own government," Stalin continued. "The Polish government must emerge from Poland itself."

—ASSURANCE OF POLISH INDEPENDENCE—

He was told that many of the Polish people in Russia are now more radical than citizens of the Soviet. He said that this did not surprise him. The political feeling of the Poles, he said, approximated that of the Russians at the time of their revolution.

He said that, if the Polish people wanted to nationalize their industries and introduce substantial agrarian reforms, it would be a good thing. He added, however, that Russia had no intention of telling them what kind of a government they should have, or how they could run it.

"We are only interested in the future peace of Europe," Stalin said, "and in not having Poland used as a doormat over which an aggressive nation can walk to assault our country."

In this connection, he made a pledge considered most significant to Polish-American leaders—namely, that the Union of Polish Patriots would not be used to form the basis for a new Polish government. The Union of Polish Patriots is the organization of Poles formed inside Russia and working closely with the Soviet. It has always been suspected that the Soviet planned to construct a new Polish government, perhaps with communist leanings, using the Polish Patriots as a nucleus. But throughout his interviews, Stalin gave assurances that he was not interested in a communistic Poland, but that he was very much interested in a friendly Poland.

MILK COOLING TANK FEATURED

To Show Construction Method Today At DeBacker Farm

Construction and operation of a milk cooling tank will be demonstrated today at the Emil DeBacker farm, St. Nicholas, It was announced yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent. The demonstration will be directed by George McIntyre, Chatham, dairy specialist.

The milk cooling tank to be built will be of a modern type, with concrete sidewalls and bottom. Inner-filled with insulating material, and is recommended for its quick-cooling action and the maintenance of low temperatures. Cold water running through the tank will lower the temperature of milk in cans within an hour, and will maintain the low temperature after the flow of water is stopped.

Forms for the construction of the tanks can be rented locally and used, then returned. Farmers are being urged to construct the new type cooling tanks because of their importance in controlling the quality of milk to be sold. Wenner points out that stricter federal regulations in milk handling may be expected after the war.

America Grows Tired Of Roosevelt's Magic

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Chicago—Now that the "draft" is safely around the corner and Governor Dewey has become the candidate of the Republican party, the question of his personality becomes of primary importance.

It shouldn't be that way. In the perfect state, elections should turn on issues. But we haven't quite reached the perfect state.

Dewey would be described by a psychologist, I should guess, as an introvert who has forced himself to acquire extrovert characteristics. That is to say, he is by nature reserved and inward turning; more nearly the scholarly or scientific rather than the political type.

Has Taught Himself During the heat of the convention I overheard a little old lady wearing a Bricker button declaim against Dewey.

"Why," she said with intense earnestness, "they tell me that they've even had to hire people to teach him how to smile."

No one has had to teach Dewey how to smile. He has taught himself.

One of the criticisms made of Dewey is that he always seems to be acting according to some pre-conceived pattern and never naturally and spontaneously. The answer lies, of course, in his personality.

The introvert finds it difficult to come into a room full of people waiting to see him—such as the big crowd at Dewey's conference—and radiate genial good will. He has to think about how to do it. It's an effort.

Most politicians, too, have a great deal of the actor in them. The present tenant of the White House is example No. 1. Actors used the word empathy to describe feeling for a part and a situation; the actor's response to his role and his audience. Dewey would seem to have little of this quality.

He's Brand New One of the keenest women in the Republican party, sizing him up in an off the record conversation before the convention, put it this way:

"He's something brand new. He doesn't fit into any of the patterns of popular thinking. He isn't the father image which most of our presidents—Washington, Lincoln, Coolidge—have been. Nor is he the hero-lover type such as Theodore Roosevelt.

She overlooked, perhaps because she is a Republican. Woodrow Wilson, who was a scholar and an introvert with few of the easy airs of the politician. Perhaps Wilson is the prototype for Dewey.

On balance, his personality has many advantages as well as disadvantages. He presents himself to the American public as the young, efficient expert in government; the careful manager who can be entrusted with the public's business.

Dewey resembles somewhat the best type of British public servant. The men he has brought into the government at Albany could fit into that pattern too.

Certainly it will be a striking contrast—Dewey and Roosevelt. Outwardly at least two men could hardly be more different.

While the Roosevelt image is deeply imbedded in the popular mind, it must be remembered that public liking is fickle. Perhaps, to put in purely on the personality level, Americans have grown tired of F.D.S.'s attractiveness, the magic of his voice and manner.

Handled Himself Well Here in Chicago, Dewey has handled himself well. The spot he stepped into at the convention, at the end of three stifling hot days, wasn't an easy one, yet he carried it off as well as could have been expected.

The general impression he made at his press conference was also good, leaving to one side the annoyance of the battery of photographers who resent Dewey's rather imperious manner. It is his preciseness, his punctiliousness, that hard boiled photographers used to hating their own way find irritating.

Attractive, self-effacing Mrs. Dewey is one of the Republican candidate's assets on the side of popular appeal. Keeping in the background, it is said that she nevertheless has great influence with her husband.

The perfect intellect from a perfect planet would write all this off as trivia. Yet by such intangibles are the political scales moved up or down.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-287: Freddy K., aged 5, is a nervous child with a great deal of unexpended energy.

"Dr. Crane, he is driving me simply crazy," his weary mother explained.

"He gets into mischief all the time. I can't persuade him to sit still for a minute. He isn't a bad child at heart, but he is so fidgety and nervous."

"And he chews gum constantly. I try to get him to buy candy or ice cream part of the time, but he'd rather have gum than anything else of the same price."

"Dr. Crane, is gum chewing harmful to children?"
DR. CRANE: On the contrary, chewing gum has been one of America's best psychological instruments.

A healthy child is full of unexpended energy, at least during his waking hours.

He is much like a boiler with the steam pressure up to the point where the safety valve must operate to prevent an explosion.

Chewing gum has been the safety valve for millions of children, as well as adults.

When a child is confined in a small city apartment or restricted to precise movements at school, as in handwriting, he has little outlet for the explosive force of energy that is within him.

Gum chewing is thus a mild outlet or safety valve, which is why children spontaneously crave it. The action of the jaw muscles helps drain off surplus energy and thus reduces the tension of the child, even though it may irritate his mother or school teacher to the explosive point!

Commendable Nervous Outlets In time of war, our soldiers and sailors likewise crave a release from their inner tensions. In our war plants and high speed factories or offices, people are now under undue tension. Gum chewing acts much as a mild sedative to their nerves in its capacity to release excess energy.

Psychiatrists often prescribe gum for children who bite their fingernails or pick at their hangnails or at their scalp, for such nervous habits are often adopted by children as a means of getting rid of surplus nervous energy.

Chewing Gum and Epilepsy. The usual treatment of epilepsy, which is regarded as a nervous explosion, consists of calming the patient as much as possible, by keeping him free from irritation or undue nervous stimulation.

In addition, drugs like phenobarbital are used daily to take the edge off the nervous irritability of the patient and thus keep him just below the explosive state.

I have long felt that the use of chewing gum might logically be of some benefit to epileptic patients through its value in draining off excess energy and thus helping keep the patient below this explosive point. Try it out in conjunction with your dietary and medical treatment, for it certainly should do no harm.

BOND CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE

Michigan Lags Behind; Big Effort Planned Today, July 6

With only a few days remaining before the end of the Fifth War Loan campaign Saturday night, Michigan lacks $131,514,000 of meeting its individual purchase quota. Frank Isbey, state chairman, has reported. The figures include bond purchases as of July 3.

Today, July 6, has been declared "Hundred Million Dollar Day" in Michigan, and efforts will be made to push Michigan over the top in its quota for the Fifth War loan.

The state chairman has pointed out that $1,300,000,000 savings deposits in Michigan banks, plus an estimated $400,000,000 hoarded in safety boxes, gives the people of Michigan $1,700,000,000 in ready cash, much of which can be converted to war bonds to meet the state's quota.

The corporation quota of $250,000,000 has already been surpassed with purchases of $279,579,100 or 111.8 per cent of the quota, but the sales to individuals continue to lag. The "E" bond quota of $171,000,000 has only been 43.8 per cent fulfilled to date, or $74,190,100. Sale of other bonds to individuals total $70,295,900, 65.6 per cent of the quota. The overall sale to individuals is $144,486,000, or 52.3 per cent of the $276,000,000 quota.

Nazi Propaganda Isbey declared that indifference on the part of the people in the belief that the war will soon be over and the false conclusion that the government will not need the money has been partly responsible for the lagging bond sales.

Vicious Nazi propaganda, noted particularly in war production centers, also has tended to stifle the sale of war bonds to individuals, the state bond chairman reported. Its basic argument, directed chiefly to parents of men in the fighting forces, is "If you want the war to end and your boy to return home, don't buy bonds."

Isbey added that this line of thought is a vicious lie, and explained that the government will have to get its revenue from the people through greater taxation, from which the people will get nothing back, if the money cannot be raised by the sale of investment bonds.

The state bond chairman told newsmen that the figures presented on war bond sales are accurate and that no sales are being held back in the report. He added that it would be a felony for banks to report untrue figures and a felony for the officials of the war bond campaign to tamper with banking figures reported to them.

"Naughty Marietta" Will Play In About 2 Weeks

Word has been received from George Quaal, Ishpeming, who is arranging the Upper Peninsula tour of the American Civic Opera company, that Broadway talent already has been obtained to fill the vacancies in the cast of "Naughty Marietta," and rehearsals are now under way.

"Naughty Marietta" was scheduled to appear at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium in Escanaba this evening, but announcement was received Monday that the appearance here would be briefly postponed, because three members of the cast had been drafted for military service. It is now expected that the American Civic Opera company will be able to resume its tour within ten days or two weeks.

Ishpeming, Soo and Marinette and other cities on the northern swing of the troupe have been advised of the need for postponement.

CITY PET SHOW TO BE TONIGHT

Annual Event Planned For Junior High Playground

The seventh annual city playground pet show sponsored by the Escanaba Lions club will be held at the junior high school playground tonight beginning at 7:00 o'clock. Contestants are asked to note the change in time which was made after postponement of the Town Hall program.

Any boys or girls in Escanaba or surrounding points are eligible to participate in the show. Those wishing to do so are asked to bring pets no earlier than 6:30 and no later than 7:00. All pets must be under control of their owners—dogs on leashes and cats in box or cage unless he can be held securely. Dogs, cats, birds, turtles, goldfish, ponies, and any other pet will be welcomed. Preliminary reports indicate that a woodchuck will be shown for the first time in the history of the show and that one of the boys is exhibiting a skunk—also the first time in all shows so far.

Ribbons for first three places will be awarded in approximately twenty events by the Lions Club. The events are extremely varied and almost any pet may win a prize. One of the most interesting classes is for most unusual pet which in previous shows has brought out some unique entries. Judging will be done by the Boys' and Girls' work committee of the Lions consisting of Cliff Vaduval, chairman, James Costley, Ray Emrich, and Bevier Butts. Arrangements at the grounds and registration will be in charge of Ruth Goodreau, playground director.

Guest Speaker At Ceremony

Dedication of the Gladstone servicemen's honor roll for World War II was held Tuesday morning as part of the July Fourth celebration. It added a solemn note to the gaiety which had marked the week-end.

The board has been erected on the city hall property at Delta and Eleventh street and lights will be installed so that the names may be read at night.

Hundreds of persons jammed the intersection for the dedication. Fathers and relatives of servicemen, for the dedication, were accorded a reserved spot on the property on which the board was erected.

George Girschbach of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., stressed the seriousness of the occasion and emphasized the importance of the four freedoms for which the boys listed were fighting. He also urged that everyone back the boys to the limit through the purchase of war bonds and by writing them often.

Mayor August Olson welcomed the large audience and introduced the speaker.

Charles C. Strickland, Gladstone high school principal, who conceived the idea of the service board and with the assistance of others carried it out, spoke briefly, giving the history of the project.

Names of close to 600 servicemen from Gladstone are on the board. Colored pins, each symbolic of the type of service, are to be placed after each name as soon as they can be procured.

"In view of this report, it is not expected that further information will be received concerning his condition."

Marcus Olson Wins Birling Title
as Successful Fete Comes to End

Marcus Olson of Marquette won the Upper Peninsula junior birling championship event which featured the July Fourth celebration here defeating Bob Bizeau in 19 seconds in straight falls.

Olson, who is also the national junior champion, took the first in five minutes and ten seconds and then clinched the peninsula title when he dunked Bizeau in 19 seconds for the second fall. Olson's title was not at stake.

Birling, swimming, log sawing and other events were staged in Gladstone's water bowl.

Thousands jammed the beach and park Tuesday for a Fourth which was marked mainly by lack of fireworks and firecrackers and also lack of auto travel due to gas rationing.

It was really a safe and sane Fourth for police authorities did not have a single auto accident or untoward incident reported in the three-day week-end.

In other matches which marked the junior role, Olson won his way into the finals with two straight falls over Bernard Mineau of Marquette, formerly of Gladstone, while Bob Bizeau, who drew a bye in the opening round, defeated Jimmy Ozle of Marquette.

Ozle earlier had taken the measure of Irving DeRoock of Gladstone, two out of three.

The longest match of the contest was between Bizeau and Ozle and lasted close to 8 minutes.

Frank Rodman and Fred Weisert of Escanaba teamed up in the log sawing contests to take first, chewing the 12 inch pine in two in 18½ seconds. Only a half second behind were Tony Africh and "Silver Jack" Raspor, the winners in the event in 1942.

The Marquette Phillips 66's defeated the Escanaba D-X's, 3-0, in a soft ball game during the afternoon.

The tug of war between the Marble-Card union and the Buckeye locals drew hundreds of spectators and the victory for the Buckeyes saw four of the losers pulled straight across the canal which runs from the water bowl.

In a water fight Tuesday evening the U. S. Coast Guards defeated the Gladstone Volunteer firemen.

Tommy Thompson, Minneapolis swimmer and diving star, accommodated the crowd a number of times Tuesday with masterly exhibitions of his ability to dive and swim.

A fine parade opened Tuesday's program. In the line of march were the high school band, Sons of Legion drum and bugle corps of Escanaba, several novel floats, a contingent of the Coast Guard reserve, a battery of servicemen and ex-servicemen, and Legionnaires.

In addition to the birling, swimming race finals, the girls' aqua-dance presentation, and novice birling were held in the water bowl. Under auspices of the Yacht club there were sailing races and outboard motor races off shore.

In the evening there was musical program and pie-eating contests for boys and girls. Tommy Quarnstrom was the best and Bob Eugene of Escanaba second best in the pie eating. Among the girls Shirley Burt proved tops with Beverly Creten second.

Winners of the swimming races: Junior 20 yard sprint, Boys—1, Bonnie Timler; 2, Dick Stader; 3, Leslie Young.

Monday evening the Buckeyes took the Lions into camp by a 10-2 score in soft ball. Switzer and Tang worked for the Lions while Micheau and Laguna formed the winning battery.

PFC RAY RIVERS
SLAIN IN ACTIONGladstone Family Hit
Second Time By War Casualty

A war department message received Wednesday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rivers, 1220 Wisconsin avenue, Gladstone, advised them that their son, PFC. Raymond L. Rivers, 21, was killed in action June 14 while serving with the U. S. army in Italy.

The young soldier was born Feb. 19, 1923, at Kipling, and attended All Saints school and Gladstone high school. Before enlisting in the army Dec. 10, 1942, he was employed at the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood Co. plant. He trained at Camp Phillips, Kansas, and Camp Forrest, Tenn., going overseas late in October, 1943. He took part in the action at the Anzio beachhead and presumably the advance through Rome.

Surviving are the parents, five brothers, PFC. Edward Rivers, who is a war casualty in a hospital at Battle Creek; Pvt. Arthur Rivers, now in France with the invasion troops; PFC. Charles, who is completing his training in Louisiana; Wilbur and Leonard. Gladstone, and a sister, Madonna, also at home.

Gladstone was scheduled to have a furlough and expected to come home for a visit. However, in a letter which the parents received this week from the youth, was the following paragraph:

"All is well with me. Am enjoying good health and happiness at the present time. I am aboard ship, will be seeing action soon. I don't want you to worry about me either. You will only wear yourself to a frazzle while all the time you're worrying I'll be perfectly alright."

Tigers Take Edge In Boston Series; Cubs Drop Back In Cellar

TROUT PITCHES HIS TENTH WIN

Bengals Back Him Up With 12 Hits To Whip Sox 8-1

Boston, July 5 (P)—Backed by a 12-hit attack, something quite unusual for him, Paul Trout pitched his tenth victory tonight as the Detroit Tigers defeated the second place Boston Red Sox, 8 to 1, in a twilight game before 5,126 spectators. It gave Detroit a two to one edge in the series that ends tomorrow.

Trout, who blanked the Philadelphia Athletics in his last start, was deprived of another shutout when Bob Johnson belted a homer into the left field stands in the fourth inning. By that time Trout had a five-run lead, and he protected it like a picnicker guarding a T-bone steak.

Trout struck eight hits very efficiently, yielding one an inning except in the sixth when he allowed none. Meanwhile, Joe Hoover belted two doubles and a single and Jimmy Outlaw got two doubles to lead the Detroit drive on Emmett O'Neil and Eddie Lake, the latter a reformed infielder. O'Neil was charged with his fourth defeat.

The Tigers gathered five runs off O'Neil in three innings. They got one in the first on Hoover's single, Chuck Hostetler's sacrifice and Outlaw's double. The big inning was the third when a four-run spurge sent O'Neil on his way.

Double Plays Help
Hoover started this with a double and Hostetler bunted a single. Outlaw doubled one run home, and another followed when Pinky Higgins rolled out. After Eddie Mayo walked, Rudy York singled Outlaw home and Mayo scored on Roger Cramer's infield out. After Johnson homered in the fourth, Detroit got this run back in the fifth. With two out Cramer singled and moved up on a wild pitch, scoring on Bob Swift's single.

Trout started a two-run rally off Lake in the eighth by sineling with two out. Hoover doubled him home and scored presently on Hostetler's single.

The Sox never seriously threatened Trout, who was aided by two double plays. The Tigers also had a 6 to 4 season edge over Boston.

Rookie Rufe Gentry will face Tex Hughson, Boston's 12-game winner, in tomorrow's final game. Then Detroit goes to New York for a four-game series before returning home.

INDIANS HANDCUFFED
New York, July 5 (P)—Atley Donald, Cleveland's nemesis, held the Indians to seven hits as the New York Yankees defeated the Tribes 6-2, today, before 5,170 fans.

It was the second time this season that Donald had beaten the Indians, and extended his record over them to 11 wins and one loss for his career.

Manager Joe McCarthy shook up the lineup placing Mito Milosevich in the leadoff spot and George Stinewells in second place. Milosevich drove in a run with a triple while Stinewells pilfered his 18th base in 20 attempts.

Bud Metheny led the Yankee attack with a single and his ninth homer of the year, in the fifth inning.

THE BROKEN IN NINTH
Philadelphia, July 5 (P)—The St. Louis Browns broke a two to two tie in the ninth today to win over the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 2 before 12,882.

The Browns bunched four hits, an error and two sacrifices off Pitcher Russ Christopher in the final inning to strengthen their American League lead by two and a half games.

Gene Moore singled over second in the ninth, Milt Byrnes sacrificed and was safe when Second Baseman Irv Hall, covering first, dropped Christopher's throw. Both runners advanced on Mark Christman's sacrifice and Al Zarilla was purposely passed leading the bases. George Caster then singled over shortstop, scoring Moore and Byrnes.

Don Black, the A's starting pitcher, was forced out of the game in the third inning when a ball batted by Moore hit him on the right ankle.

St. Louis — 110 000 002—4 8 0
Athletics — 000 002 000—2 12 2
Potter, Caster, and Hayworth; Mancuso; Black, Christopher and Hayes.

WHITE SOX STOPPED
Washington, July 5 (P)—Dutch Leonard, veteran knuckleballer, held Chicago to five blows tonight as Washington defeated the White Sox, 3 to 1, before some 5,000 fans.

The Senators clipped Bill Dietrich for eight hits, three of them by Joe Kuhel. It was Dietrich's sixth loss against 10 wins, and Leonard's seventh victory compared with four reversals.

The Chicago counted in the second on a walk and singles by Tom Turner and Skeeter Webb.

Washington scored in the first when George Myatt walked, went to third on Kuhel's one-baser and dashed home on Jake Powell's double-play infield roller. In the seventh, Gil Torres doubled, took third on a sacrifice and scored on LeRoy Schalk's error. The final run came in the ninth on Kuhel's single, a sacrifice and Torres' one-base blow.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Hausmann, Red Sox pitcher, was the victim of one of the old-time tricks in baseball in the first game of the Boston-Detroit double header Sunday, simply because he failed to observe one of the fundamental rules of the game—a batter must run out every hit. With a runner on first, Hausmann hit a pop fly ball at Hal Newhouser, pitcher for the Tigers. The base runner, of course, held his base to avoid being doubled after the catch. Hausmann failed to run out the play so Newhouser trapped the ball, deliberately letting it hit the ground.

Normally the play would be at second base to force the base runner who was at first, but since the base runner failed to move off the bag, Newhouser threw to first. The ball got away from York, the first baseman, but Mayo, backing up the play, recovered the ball, touched the base runner at first and then stepped on first base to retire Hausmann, who had made no pretense of running out the fly ball. Despite a bad play, either on Newhouser's throw or York's catch, a double play resulted. Had Hausmann run out the fly ball, there would have been only a single out in the play.

Things like this are not supposed to happen in big leagues, but they do happen occasionally and because of it, the sand lot players throughout the country learn to improve their game. The happenings of the major leagues are closely followed by baseball enthusiasts from one end of the United States to the other. When a bad play like this occurs in a major league game, the resulting publicity and explanations serve to establish a lesson for the junior leaguers and sand lot players. Fortunately, they don't happen often enough that these bad plays become an accepted part of the game.

The All Star game in Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, the night of July 11 will be the 12th midsummer baseball classic. The first was played in Chicago in 1933 as a feature of the World's Fair. The idea was presented by Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, and although the baseball owners were not sold on the idea that year, it became so popular with the fans that the all star game has become a baseball tradition. Of the 11 games played to date, the American League has won eight and the Nationals only three. This year's proceeds will go to the bat and ball fund for American servicemen.

Hit and Miss—A game between the two great Navy teams—the Sampson and Great Lakes training centers—proposed by Senator James Mead of New York has been vetoed by the Navy department. Mead suggested the game as a war bond feature. Manager Joe Cronin, Coach Frank Shellenback and 22 Red Sox players each donated a pint of blood at the first Cub hit, filling the bases. Tobin retired five more in order before the Cubs suddenly started timing him and made six hits in the last two frames for a total of seven.

The Braves, who climbed back to seventh place by the victory, combed Paul Erickson, Dale Alderson and Hi Vandenberg for 13 hits, including four singles by second baseman Connie Ryan.

Andy Hansen, young Giant rookie, checked the home club for the first two innings, but the Cardinals hitting power came to life in the third with four hits, climaxed by Ken O'Dea's second home run of the season with two mates on base.

The Giants' lone run came in the sixth inning when Joe Medwick singled to score manager Mel Ott who had doubled.

CHICAGO JINXED BY BUTTERFLY

Tobin Retires First 16 Men In Order; Braves Back In Seventh

Chicago, July 5 (P)—Jim Tobin, the Boston Braves' master of the "butterfly" pitch, flustered his knuckleball past the Cubs for his season's ninth victory, 7 to 2, today and thereby returned the Chicagoans to the cellar after their one night of disinterment since April.

Bidding for another no-hitter, the big right-hander, who held Brooklyn hitless in April and also made Philadelphia go without a hit in a five-inning game last month, retired the first 16 Cubs to face him in order. Then he walked Dewey Williams, Cub rookie catcher, on a three-to pitch with one out in the sixth.

Later in the inning, after Stan Hack lured Tobin's only other pass of the game on four pitches, Roy Hughes beat out a single to shortstop Whitey Witt, filling the bases. Tobin retired five more in order before the Cubs suddenly started timing him and made six hits in the last two frames for a total of seven.

The Braves, who climbed back to seventh place by the victory, combed Paul Erickson, Dale Alderson and Hi Vandenberg for 13 hits, including four singles by second baseman Connie Ryan.

HOLIDAY HELPS BUYING TRENDS

New York, July 5 (P)—The holiday recess provided the stock market with a good backing of buying today. Steel, enabled the general list to continue its advance to new seven-year highs.

Groups most responsive to the broad demand were the steels, motors, air transports, communications, gold mines, utilities, copper specialties and autos. Final gains ranged from fractions to around 2 points. The rails showed early progress but faltered as the close. Some industrial retraced a bit from their best levels in the final hour.

Bullish sentiment was stimulated by U. S. Steel's spirited opening of a $5.00 share transaction at 62, up 1. More was added to this gain but at its closing price of 62 1/4, up 1 1/4, Big Steel was under its high.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite moved up 2 1/2 points to 55.6, a record since October, 1937. It was one of the most active of the big post-invasion markets with volume of 2,435,770 shares compared with 1,660,000 Monday.

RAILS TAKE LEAD
New York, July 5 (P)—The bond market moved up fractions to more than a point today with rails leading both in gain and volume.

The Associated Press average of 10 utilities reached a new high at 107.2, the 10 foreign bonds at a new peak at 68.1 and the rails and low-yielders. The compilation duplicated their old tops. Sales of $9,561,490 compared with $7,759,900 last Monday.

The market got off to a good start under a sizable volume of buying orders accumulated during the July 4 holiday and except in a few cases maintained the higher trend up to the close. Among the minority of backward issues, various loans of the Missouri Pacific and American Telephone were conspicuous.

Well up in front of the advancing column were bonds of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, North Western, Cleveland Electric, Commonwealth Edison, Erie, Rock Island, Illinois Central, Morris & Essex, Philadelphia, Reading, Seaboard and Iron and Seaboard Air Line. U. S. governments held a fully steady undertone in quiet dealings.

Gainers of a point or more in the foreign department included Australia, 5/16, Costa Rica 7/8, Dominican Republic 5/16, Buenos Aires loans softened under light offerings.

CHICAGO PRICES

Chicago, July 5 (P)—(WFA)—The butter market was firm today and unchanged at OPA ceilings.</

new at war that they still try to keep themselves clean. They shave and wash their clothes regularly.

Their service section has not come over yet from England, so they have to cook their own meals. They're pretty sick of this and will be glad when the service boys and the field kitchens catch up with them. They eat ten-in-one rations, heating them over a fire of wooden sticks sunk into a shallow hole in the ground.

The sergeant who is commander of my gun is a farm boy from Iowa, and none of the crew are past their middle 20s. Only two of the 13 are married.

There have been overseas more than six months, and like everybody else they are terribly anxious to go home. They like to think in terms of anniversaries, and much of their conversation is given to remembering what they were doing a year ago today when they were in camp back in America. They all hope they won't have to go to the Pacific when the European war is over.

My crew are a swell bunch of boys. They all work hard and they work well together. There are no cold-brickers in the crew. As in any group of a dozen men, some are talkative and some are quiet. There are no smart-alecks among them.

Only one man in the crew speaks French. That one has already made friends with the farmers nearby, and they get such stuff as eggs and butter occasionally. They have been promised some chickens, but it wasn't showed up yet.

Although the noise and confusion of their gun are terrific, they have got used to it and none of them wears cotton in his ears. They say the two best morale-boosters are the Stars and Stripes and letters from home.

My boys are very proud of their first night on the soil of France. They began firing immediately from a field not far from the beach. The snipers were still thick in the surrounding hedges, and bullets were singing around them all night. The boys like to tell over and over how the infantry all around them were crouching and crawling along while they had to stand straight up and dig their guns in.

It takes about 12 hours of good hard work to dig in the positions when they move to a new position. They dig in one gun at a time while the three others are firing. My gun is dug into a circular pit about four feet deep and 20 feet across. This has been rimmed with a parapet of sandbags and dirt, until when you stand or the floor of the pit you can just see over the top. The boys are safe down there from anything but a direct hit.

Their gun is covered in the day.

time by a large camouflage net. My crew fires anywhere from 10 to 150 shells a night. In the very early days on the beachhead they kept firing one night until they had only half a dozen shells left, but the supply has been built up now, and there is no danger of their running short again.

The first night I was with them was a slow night and they fired only nine shells. The boys were terribly disappointed. They said it would have to turn out that the night I was with them would be the quietest and also the coldest they had ever had.

So just because of that I stayed a second night with them. And that time we fired all night long. It was indicated that we had brought down seven of the 15 planes we fired at, and the boys were elated.

Carnegie Library Receives State Aid

The Carnegie public library board received a check yesterday for $1,425.16 from the state board for libraries, Mrs. S. W. Brennan, president, announces.

This grant is from the equalization portion of the state aid to public libraries fund. Such grants-in-aid are made to public libraries in areas where the assessed valuation is less than two-thirds of the average for the state.

The purpose of the equalization fund is to give extra help to libraries in areas with low assessed valuations in order to assist these libraries to meet the standards set by the state board for libraries.

WAR COST AT 192 BILLION

PREINDUCTION CALL PASSED?

Local Board Has Heard
Nothing Regarding
July Quota

Although many draft boards of the upper peninsula have already been notified that they will not be given a pre-induction quota for July, the Delta county board has not received a similar notification.

In April of this year the pre-induction examining board did not come to the upper peninsula and most boards in the peninsula were not given quotas for that month, but Delta county did receive a call for pre-induction that month, the selectees being sent to Milwaukee.

In any event, it is not likely that the examining board will come to the upper peninsula this month and if the local board receives a quota for pre-induction examinations, the selectees presumably would again be sent to Milwaukee.

Since calls for pre-induction generally are received before this date, there is growing belief here that no call will be received for July.

A call for 40 men for induction, however, was received nearly two weeks ago. These men will leave Escanaba July 11 for Milwaukee.

News From Men In The Service

Mark Valind, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Valind, 605 Stephenson avenue, has been promoted from staff sergeant to technical sergeant. Sgt. Valind is stationed in Northern Iran (Persia) and was the subject of an interesting article in a May issue of Yank, the Army weekly magazine. Sgt. Valind heads a section of mechanic inspectors in Iran. The article included a picture of Sgt. Valind and a Sgt. Valind crew member checking an army truck.

AN AIR SERVICE COMMAND DEPOT, "Somewhere in Ireland"—The award of the Good Conduct Medal for "exemplary behavior," efficiency and fidelity" to T/Sgt. John B. LaBrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis LaBrie of Route No. 1, Gladstone, Mich., was announced recently by Major General Hugh J. Knerr, commanding general of the Air Service Command, United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe.

T/Sgt. LaBrie attended St. Joseph High School. Before entering the service, he was a student.

Two Escanaba, Mich., men were commissioned as ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve in graduation ceremonies at the Camp Macdonough midshipman school, Plattsburg, New York.

The newly commissioned officers have completed 16 weeks of intensive training and were presented with certificates. Many of the new officers, who had not completed formal college education because of the war will be credited by the college they last attended for the classroom work completed during their midshipman training at Camp Macdonough.

The new ensigns are: William R. Howe, son of Mr. B. M. Howe, 511 First St.; Henry S. Peterson, 317 S. 17th St., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peterson.

Pvt. Harvey J. Arkens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arkens, has returned to Fort Meade, Md., replacement depot after spending 15 day leave at the home of his parents in Wilson.

Pvt. Arkens was inducted Jan. 26 of this year and received his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla. His training included handling of the M1 rifle, the .30 caliber carbine, the Browning automatic, the light machine gun, grenade launchers, the bazooka or rocket launcher and mortars of various sizes. His training was climaxed with two weeks bivouac under actual combat conditions and a 25 mile hike.

T/Sgt. C. J. Trombley, son of Joseph Trombley of Wells, is now with the U. S. Army in Africa.

Writing to his sister, Joan, Sgt. Trombley said in part: "I just came from 8 o'clock mass about an hour or two ago. Have been going every Sunday, and I always pray that this darn war will be over so I can get home soon. So they haven't made up their mind on what they are going to do with the chemical. I don't see why somebody doesn't fix it up so they can get some good out of it. Just what in the world are all the boys going to do after this war. There really isn't anything to do. It is a wonderful site for any big factory. They have a good port, and also enough railroads going through there to put up a wonderful business."

Staff Sgt. W. G. Wibby of Providence, Rhode Island, has arrived in Escanaba to spend an eight-day furlough with his wife and daughter, Suzanne, at the home of Mrs. Wibby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Manthey.

Dr. F. O. Hanson, Minneapolis, Dies

A telegram received by Dr. C. Albert Lund yesterday morning brought him and his people the unexpected and sad news that Dr. F. O. Hanson of Minneapolis, Minn., who served the local Bethany Lutheran church during the months of March, April and May as assistant to Dr. Lund, had suddenly passed away on Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Hanson was highly thought of and much appreciated during his service in the Bethany church and this unexpected information touching his sudden demise will come as a severe shock to the many who had learned to know him.

His funeral will be conducted Friday afternoon of this week.

CIRCUIT COURT NOW IN SESSION

Only 3 Criminal Cases
On Calendar; One
Is Annulled

The non-jury July term of circuit court for Delta county opened yesterday in the court room in Escanaba, with Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee presiding. There are few cases on the calendar and it is expected the term will be brief.

Only three criminal cases were scheduled for hearing and one has been annulled. Charles Featherers, 18, of Nahma, charged with breaking and entering, has entered the army and the charge against him was annulled.

The other criminal cases are those of Norman Curry, 58, of Rt. 1, Bark River, charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile without intent to steal, which was passed for the present at a review of the calendar yesterday; and Merrill Gravelle, charged with illegitimacy, who entered a not guilty plea.

Two non-jury civil cases were passed. They are St. Luke's hospital vs. Harry Tibert; and the Air Conditioning Training company vs. John L. Boileau.

Nine divorce actions, none listed on the calendar, were scheduled for hearing. Some of them were heard yesterday.

Briefly Told

Escanaba Commandery—A regular meeting of Escanaba Commandery will be held at 7 o'clock this evening.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The men overseas don't mince any words about the way they want to find this country when they come marching home... do they, Judge?"

"They certainly don't, Herb...and they shouldn't. They're doing a masterful job fighting over there to protect our rights and they have good license to expect us to protect theirs back here at home. One thing they're mighty clear on is their stand on prohibition."

"Their position on that subject was stated very emphatically in a poll taken recently among American service men in England by the British Institute of Public Opinion. When hundreds of men were asked point blank how they would vote on prohibition, 85% of them stated, in unmistakable terms, that they would vote against it. There's no doubt about it, Herb...the men overseas don't want any action taken on that subject while they're away."

"And they're 100% right, Judge, because I know how I felt when I came home after the last war—only to learn that we had been over there fighting for so impractical a thing as Prohibition."

"Make an early appointment with me for better car care... weekdays, if you can, please."

Mom's idea about the battery is "on the beam"—especially for hot weather, when battery water evaporates so easily, so quickly.

More and more we find Mom taking over the car's care. And why not? It's easy now for women or men to keep a car running right, running longer, and running farther on every gallon of gasoline. Just take it to a Standard Oil Dealer. He's trained in wartime car-saving service.

Remember—it's going to be a long, long time before you can replace your car. Don't neglect it.
